

A propos de ce livre

Ceci est une copie numérique d'un ouvrage conservé depuis des générations dans les rayonnages d'une bibliothèque avant d'être numérisé avec précaution par Google dans le cadre d'un projet visant à permettre aux internautes de découvrir l'ensemble du patrimoine littéraire mondial en ligne.

Ce livre étant relativement ancien, il n'est plus protégé par la loi sur les droits d'auteur et appartient à présent au domaine public. L'expression "appartenir au domaine public" signifie que le livre en question n'a jamais été soumis aux droits d'auteur ou que ses droits légaux sont arrivés à expiration. Les conditions requises pour qu'un livre tombe dans le domaine public peuvent varier d'un pays à l'autre. Les livres libres de droit sont autant de liens avec le passé. Ils sont les témoins de la richesse de notre histoire, de notre patrimoine culturel et de la connaissance humaine et sont trop souvent difficilement accessibles au public.

Les notes de bas de page et autres annotations en marge du texte présentes dans le volume original sont reprises dans ce fichier, comme un souvenir du long chemin parcouru par l'ouvrage depuis la maison d'édition en passant par la bibliothèque pour finalement se retrouver entre vos mains.

Consignes d'utilisation

Google est fier de travailler en partenariat avec des bibliothèques à la numérisation des ouvrages appartenant au domaine public et de les rendre ainsi accessibles à tous. Ces livres sont en effet la propriété de tous et de toutes et nous sommes tout simplement les gardiens de ce patrimoine. Il s'agit toutefois d'un projet coûteux. Par conséquent et en vue de poursuivre la diffusion de ces ressources inépuisables, nous avons pris les dispositions nécessaires afin de prévenir les éventuels abus auxquels pourraient se livrer des sites marchands tiers, notamment en instaurant des contraintes techniques relatives aux requêtes automatisées.

Nous vous demandons également de:

- + Ne pas utiliser les fichiers à des fins commerciales Nous avons conçu le programme Google Recherche de Livres à l'usage des particuliers. Nous vous demandons donc d'utiliser uniquement ces fichiers à des fins personnelles. Ils ne sauraient en effet être employés dans un quelconque but commercial.
- + Ne pas procéder à des requêtes automatisées N'envoyez aucune requête automatisée quelle qu'elle soit au système Google. Si vous effectuez des recherches concernant les logiciels de traduction, la reconnaissance optique de caractères ou tout autre domaine nécessitant de disposer d'importantes quantités de texte, n'hésitez pas à nous contacter. Nous encourageons pour la réalisation de ce type de travaux l'utilisation des ouvrages et documents appartenant au domaine public et serions heureux de vous être utile.
- + Ne pas supprimer l'attribution Le filigrane Google contenu dans chaque fichier est indispensable pour informer les internautes de notre projet et leur permettre d'accéder à davantage de documents par l'intermédiaire du Programme Google Recherche de Livres. Ne le supprimez en aucun cas.
- + Rester dans la légalité Quelle que soit l'utilisation que vous comptez faire des fichiers, n'oubliez pas qu'il est de votre responsabilité de veiller à respecter la loi. Si un ouvrage appartient au domaine public américain, n'en déduisez pas pour autant qu'il en va de même dans les autres pays. La durée légale des droits d'auteur d'un livre varie d'un pays à l'autre. Nous ne sommes donc pas en mesure de répertorier les ouvrages dont l'utilisation est autorisée et ceux dont elle ne l'est pas. Ne croyez pas que le simple fait d'afficher un livre sur Google Recherche de Livres signifie que celui-ci peut être utilisé de quelque façon que ce soit dans le monde entier. La condamnation à laquelle vous vous exposeriez en cas de violation des droits d'auteur peut être sévère.

À propos du service Google Recherche de Livres

En favorisant la recherche et l'accès à un nombre croissant de livres disponibles dans de nombreuses langues, dont le français, Google souhaite contribuer à promouvoir la diversité culturelle grâce à Google Recherche de Livres. En effet, le Programme Google Recherche de Livres permet aux internautes de découvrir le patrimoine littéraire mondial, tout en aidant les auteurs et les éditeurs à élargir leur public. Vous pouvez effectuer des recherches en ligne dans le texte intégral de cet ouvrage à l'adresse <http://books.google.com>

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

INTERPRETATIONIBUS HEBRAICORUM NOMINUM IN FINE.

XIV. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO, 16 × 10½ INCHES. FF. 503.

BOUND IN BLUE MOROCCO.

Written on fine vellum in bold gothic characters and in double columns. The initial letters at the beginning of each book are finely illuminated in miniature, that to Genesis extends the whole length and width of the page. The initials to the prologues are also illuminated in miniature, those at the commencement of the chapters are rubricated. The leaves are numbered in a late hand.

Colophon, in red: "Anno a nativitate Domini Millesimo ccc<sup>xx</sup>. De mense Madij (sic) Ego magister Bartholomeus de pergon compleui bibliam istam. Ad honorem dei et beate Marie Virginis et totius curie celestis."

On a fly leaf at the beginning are the following notes:—

"De primo banco bibliothecae ex parte orientis. Hec biblia est completa sine psalterio cum interpretationibus hebraicorum nominum in fine per ordinem alphabeti completa. 1320 de mense maij."

"Et est huius principalis Monasterij sacri ordinis Montis-oliueti. Quam donavit nobis Reverendissime memorie Dominus Nicola de capotij de urbe Dignissimus Cardinalis Cuius anima requiescat in pace."

"Hic quoque Reuerendissimus sumptibus suis hedificauit et ordine nostro incorporauit monasterium sancte Marie montis morcini prope perusium pro quibus omnibus retribuatur ei dominus refrigerij sedem luminis claritatem quietis beatitudinem. Amen."

XV. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO,  $15\frac{1}{2} \times 11\frac{1}{4}$  INCHES. FF. 388.

IN BLUE PIERCED VELVET BINDING.

Written in gothic characters and in double columns. Beautifully illuminated throughout in the Flemish style of art. All the chapters have initials in gold and colours, and numerous miniature illustrations occur on the margins and in the spaces between the columns, appended in a curious and unusual manner to the initials. On ff. 1 and 3 are borders of animals and flowers, on the first are also two coats of arms: 1. Sable, a cross or, in each canton 5 billets of the second saltirewise; 2. Arg. three eagles displayed az. within a bordure engrailed sab. The initial to the first Psalm has unfortunately been abstracted.

There are marginal references to the New Testament in a later hand.

Colophon: "Expliciunt interpretationes Deo gratias. 1432."

The last leaf is mutilated, but nothing appears to be lost but the blank vellum.

XIV. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO,  $11\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$  INCHES. FF. 568.

BOUND IN CRIMSON MOROCCO.

Beautifully written on fine thin vellum in gothic characters and in double columns. The interpretationes are in three columns. Fine illuminated initials in gold and colours to the beginnings of the books, and rubricated initials to the chapters.

There are marginal notes in a later hand.

Colophon: "Expliciunt interpretationes magistri theobaldi." "Explicit biblia domini Johannis de Lauarc' Quam scripsit Mich' Michael Cornubiensis Clericus."

Two leaves have been supplied of coarser vellum and written in a later hand, but on one is preserved the original illumination to the beginning of the Second Book of Kings. A leaf containing the beginning of Genesis, and another containing the end of Maccabees and the beginning of the New Testament, are still deficient.

APPENDIX.

Written in double columns, with large initials, occupying in some instances the whole height of the page, and composed of floriated tracery in gold and colours, with drawings of the human figure interspersed, as is not unfrequently to be seen in decorated MSS. of Lombard execution of this date. The titles and the initial letters of the chapters are in red. The volume consists of 18 gatherings, generally of 8 leaves each, and numbered, for the most part, on the verso of the last leaf.

The original oak covers have been preserved, and inside them are four leaves from a service book of the tenth century, written in double columns. Several of the linen guards are still attached to the illuminations.

DES MOULINS DU LATIN DE PIERRE COMESTOR.

XIV. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO, 17 × 12½ INCHES. FF. 576.

BOUND IN CRIMSON VELVET.

Written in double columns, with illuminated initials and ornaments in gold and colours, and numerous richly executed miniature illustrations, well preserved. The titles and headings of chapters in red, the running head-titles in alternate blue and gold letters ornamented.

This volume was probably written for John, King of France, or for his son, John, Duke of Berry, whose autograph signature occurs on the verso of the last leaf:—

“Ceste Bible est au Duc de Berry.—Jehan.”

On the verso of a fly-leaf at the beginning are the following notes by the Duke's Secretary, Flamel:—

“Cest une bible historial la quele est a Jehan Filz de roy de France Duc de Berry et Dauuergne Conte De Poitou Destampes De Bouloingne et Dauuergne.—Flamel.”

The following memoranda are on the same page:—

“Ladicte bible escheut par succession a monsieur dauzances chevalier de lordre du roy et son lieutenant general au gouvernement de Metz Qui la donna le ii Jour de Juillet xv<sup>e</sup>lxi a trespuissant seigneur Francois descepeaux seigneur de vieilleville conte de durestal mareschal de France. laissa par mort a trespuissant seigneur Jean seigneur despinay chevalier de lordre du roy aussi conte de durestal son gendre & principal heritier qui la donna a monseigneur de villeroy conseiller du roy Charles IX. et secretaire destat de sa majeste le jour de Noel xv<sup>e</sup>lxxj pour mettre en sa librairie."

"Et le 11 Septembre M.DCXXV. Messire Nicolas de Verdun chevalier premier president au parlement de Paris auquel ladite Bible avoit este donnee par ledit seigneur de Villeroy en fit present a M<sup>re</sup> Jehan Habert Chevalier seigneur de Montmor son cousin qui la donnee a M<sup>re</sup> Henri Louis Habert chevalier Maistre des requestes de l'hostel du roy."

The following entry in the catalogue of the Duke of Berry's books serves further to identify this volume:—

"No. 593. Un livre nommé Bible historial laquelle est à Jehan, fils de roy de France, et duc de Berry; signé Flamel; laquelle mon dit seigneur donna au mois de juing, l'an 1410, à noble et puissant seigneur de Belleville et de Montagu." See "Bibliothèque Prototypographique." Paris, 1830, 4° pa. 100.

Of the several persons mentioned above as having possessed this book the more remarkable are, Jean Harpedene, Seigneur de Belleville et de Montagu, who married Marguërite de Valois, legitimated daughter of Odette de Champdivers by King Charles VI.; the Maréchal de Vieilleville, well known for his bravery and conduct in the wars of Francis I. and Henry II., and as having been sent to dissuade Queen Elizabeth from assisting the Huguenots; Nicolas de Neufville, Seigneur de Villeroy, Secretary of State under four successive sovereigns of France, viz. Charles IX., Henry III., Henry IV., and Louis XIII.; and Henri Louis Habert de Montmor, a member of the Académie Française, who died in 1679.

The volume afterwards belonged to Godfrey the last reigning Duke of Bouillon, who gave it to his adopted heir, Philip d'Auvergne, according to the following note on the recto of the leaf containing the above-quoted memoranda:—

"This Bible hath been given to Philip Dauvergne Captain in the royal Navy of Great Britain by Godefrey the reigning Duke of Bouillon chief of the sovereign house of Auvergne to the said P. D'Auvergne post Cp<sup>a</sup> his adopted son as a proof and token of his tender friendship for him and the said reigning Duke of Bouillon has written his donation with his own hand and made it the 8th Jan<sup>y</sup> of the year 1785. Godefrey reigning Duke of Bouillon." Below this is a note subscribed "Philip d'Auvergne Prince successor to the sovereignty of the Dutchy of Bouillon" &c., and then a note in French recording the donation to the same effect as above. The autograph signature of Philip d'Auvergne also occurs on the verso of the last leaf, below that of the Duke of Berry.

The author of "Cæsarea. The island of Jersey, its history," &c., London, 1840, gives a biographical account of the unfortunate Philip d'Auvergne, but does not mention a tract which he published dated Jersey, Dec. 1806, intitled "A brief exposition of the rights, titles and claims of Philip d'Auvergne (Prince of Bouillon) a rear admiral in His Majesty's navy" &c. &c., in which allusion is made to this manuscript. The Prince died in London in 1816.

This MS. was afterwards in the collection of Sir Gore Ouseley, Bart., Ambassador Extraordinary at the Court of Persia. In July 1853 it was sold by Sotheby, under an order of the Court of Chancery, when it was bought by Sotheran and Co., of whom it was purchased by the present owner.

M. Paulin Paris could not have been aware of the existence of this MS. when he described a copy among the MSS. of the Bibliothèque du Roi, as that given by the Duke of Berry to the Seigneur de Belleville in 1410. See "Les Manuscrits François," etc., tom. II. pa. 11. Nor does it seem to have occurred to him that there were other copies also described as having the Duke of Berry's autograph, viz. Harleian. No. 4381, 82, and La Valliere, No. 113, either of which, in the absence of proof to the contrary, was as likely to have been the copy given away by the Duke, as the one described by M. Paulin Paris.

XIII. CENTURY.

VELLUM. OCTAVO, 6½ × 3½ INCHES. Ff. 308.

IN THE OLD LEATHER BINDING.

With rubrics, coloured initials and scrolls throughout; an ornamental initial in colours and gold to each book, and the beginning of the text in coloured capitals.

At the end of Hebrews, which is arranged last, is the following colophon:

Finito libro arnoldinus pede saltat in uno
Benedicamus domino deo gracias.

Ad honorem dei & beatissime ecclesie
Johannes serrabula fecit curiose
Istud opus fieri late studiose.

A few memoranda of events in the 12th century follow on the same page; then a table of lessons etc. occupying 17 pages, on the last of which is written: "Anno dominice millesimo ducentesimo Quarto idus aprilis Incepit fieri hic liber et quarto anno trasiacto Johannes positus fuit huic facto." The Calendar, on six pages, comes next; then an index of Scripture common places on four pages; and, on the verso of the last leaf, a hymn to the Virgin, beginning:

O regina gloriosa, uirgo nimis speciosa, sancta dei genetrix.

There are notes on the margins in a handwriting of the same century. The binding is on the old oak boards.

MISSAS.

VIII. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO, 12 $\frac{1}{2}$  x 10 INCHES. FF. 224.
IN GOLDEN JEWELLED BINDING.

With rubrics and initials in red and gold. The canons are in gold on a purple ground, within columns and arches of gold; they are preceded and followed by a page ornamented with flowers etc. on a green ground in a purple border. At the beginning of each gospel are two pages, containing respectively the title and the commencement of the text in gold letters on a purple ground, with large ornamental initial to the text, and a border in gold and colours to each page.

The binding consists of stout boards lined on the inside with ancient embroidered silk, and covered on the outside with beaten gold. On the upper cover are represented in relief Our Saviour on the cross, with the superscription "Hic est rex iudeorum," and angels in the four compartments formed by the cross. Surrounding and intersecting the whole surface are raised borders and lines of fret work in gold, with elevated bosses, all thickly studded with precious stones 327 in number, and consisting of sapphires, emeralds, pearls, garnets, amethysts etc. from the size of a pigeon's egg to that of a peppercorn. The sapphires, which are the largest of the stones, have been pierced, and seem as if they had at one time formed the beads of a necklace. The edge of this cover has also a border of gold filagree work set with a hundred precious stones or silver substitutes for them.

The surface of the lower cover is formed into a cross patee, with a border of mosaic enamels in the style called Byzantine. At the four corners are figures of the Evangelists chased in gold; but these are of more recent date. This cover is also set with precious stones 35 in number, besides one that is wanting, and it has a plain gold edging inscribed with sentences from the gospel of St. John, in capital letters.

The back, which is plain, bears the date 1594, when the binding was probably repaired.

This manuscript in its rich and delicately worked binding, sparkling with gems and gold, was one of the treasures of the celebrated Abbey and Chapter of Noble Canonesses at Lindau on the Lake of Constance, and is said to have been given to them by their reputed founder Louis le débonnaire, son of the Emperor Charlemagne. The Abbesses had the rank of Princesses of the Empire, and tradition says that this volume was carried before them, in processions of state, with the sword of justice.

A letter in French, by the Baron Joseph de Lassberg, dated 29 July 1846, accompanies the volume and explains how it came into his possession.

Various writers who took part in the controversy upon the antiquity and privileges of the Abbey, and the genuineness of its diploma of foundation, have mentioned this MS. and its binding, amongst others the author of "Justa defensio antiquissimi diplomatis quo Ludovicus Imperator Cœnobium nobilium virginum Lindaviensæ nono abhinc sæculo stabilivit." Constantiæ, 1691. 4°, p. 155; and Tentzel in his "*Historicæ Vindicæ pro H. IIA.

The canons are in twelve tables with columns and arches, having various kinds of birds depicted on each side of them. The beginning of each gospel, of some of the arguments and of St. Jerome's preface, is in gold letters on a purple ground; other headings and the large marginal initials throughout to the end of the gospels are also in gold, those subsequent are in red.

The gold letters are initials or capitals, the text is in semi-uncials.

The volume is composed of 32 gatherings. The last two leaves are blank.

From the library of "San Lorenzo el real del Escorial."

IN THE OLD LEATHER BINDING.

The beginnings of the gospels have large coloured initials, and the pages are surrounded by a coloured border. Rudely drawn and tinted figures of St. Luke and St. John precede their gospels, a similar drawing of St. Matthew has been commenced only. The headings and marginal initials are in red.

On the verso of fol. 6. are two prayers in different coloured inks and of somewhat later writing; in the margin of the same page is written "Gunterius co' omnibus sanguineis suis."

The binding is on the old oak boards.

ANNE. CIRCULUM.

IX. CENTURY.

Vellum. OCTAVO, 7 x 4 1/2 INCHES. 44. 415.

IN THE OLD BLUE LINEN BINDING.

Neatly written in small minuscule characters with rubrics and initials in red and blue. The columns and arches to the canons are in various colours with interlaced ornaments, probably of Anglo-Saxon art.

Prefixed to each of the gospels is a rude coloured representation of the Evangelist, within a border, occupying the whole page. The pages are numbered throughout.

The covers are very stout oak boards; on the outside of the lower one is a hollow in the wood containing three small parcels of relics tied up in linen cloth with parchment labels. One purports to be a fragment of the wood of the cross, another a relic of St. Thomas. They were concealed under the linen covering until recently discovered by cutting it open.

XII. CENTURY.

VELLUM. QUARTO, 8 × 5½ INCHES. FF. 199.

IN OLD RED MOROCCO BINDING.

Written in long lines with rubrics and initials in red. The prologues etc. have ornamented initials of floriated tracery in colours. The beginnings of the gospels are in gold letters with a tracery initial in the same, the whole on a dark ground within a border occupying the page. Prefixed to each gospel is a representation of the Evangelist in colours on a gold ground within a border.

The first eight leaves, containing the preliminary matter, are of later date. Part of the Epistle of Carpianus to Eusebius occurs here, the end having been omitted by the transcriber.

On the first page is written in red letters:—

IX. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO, 12 × 9 INCHES. FF. 162.

IN OLD CRIMSON VELVET BINDING WITH ENAMELLED SIDE.

APPENDIX.

Written in double columns; the text of the Gospel, for the most part, in capitals, occasionally in uncial characters, the exposition in roman minuscule letters.

The beginning and end of the original Manuscript are wanting, also eight leaves towards the middle of the volume and one in gathering ix.

Prefixed is a table occupying three leaves in writing of the 15th century; a blank leaf follows, and then the beginning of the exposition supplied in the same handwriting as the table, with the rubric in red capitals:

“Incipit expositio in Evangelium Mathei.”

“Expositionem itaque scripturus in Evangelium Beati Mathei opportunum esse judicavi”...

The original MS. begins in the exposition of ver. 16, chap. i.: “integra generatio et ea quam Matheus enumerat dicens”... The text ends in chap. xv. ver. 32, and the exposition with the following words in two lines: “in presentis vite via deficient si in sua conscientia sine doctrine (sic) sancte pabulo”

The gatherings of leaves are numbered in red at the top; done apparently when the attempt was made to complete the book in the 15th century.

The outer surface of one of the covers consists of a frame of metal enamelled in colours, with a bevel-edged crystal of oval form at each corner; midway between these, and upon the enamelled frame, are four rectangular compartments of filagree work, two of them with five stones, the others with two small stones, in each. The flat space within the frame contains five medallions, but not enamelled: the Paschal Lamb in the centre, and the devices of the four evangelists above and below; the figures painted on a blue ground, and the medallions in gilt frames on a crimson ground.

The volume is illustrated by upwards of eighty miniature paintings, most of them occupying a whole page, and several of them two pages; besides genealogical trees, diagrams, a mappamundi, illuminated initials, and arabesque ornaments.

The binding is on wood boards.

This MS. is said to have been obtained by M. Roberto Frasinelli, of Madrid, from the Abbey of Valcavado in Spain, in exchange for a silver watch worth 30 francs. See M. Libri's letter in the volume. See also his "Réponse au rapport de M. Boucly," pag. 69, where he refers to this volume as "un des plus anciens et des plus beaux manuscrits à miniatures qui existent en Europe."

MSS. of this commentary are exceedingly rare; the present in point of antiquity and copiousness of embellishment is probably unequalled. The copy in the British Museum, which was purchased of Joseph Buonaparte, is of the twelfth century.

This is the MS. numbered 157 in the list prefixed to the edition of the "Holy Bible in the earliest English versions," by the Rev. J. Forshall and Sir F. Madden; it contains that which they describe as the later version of the Testament.

Contents:—A table of golden numbers, Sunday letters, and moveable feasts, one page; the Calendar, 6 leaves; two tables of golden numbers &c. from m.ccccxlviii to m.v<sup>o</sup>xx, one page. Fol. 8. "Here begynneth a rewle that tellith in whiche chapitris of the bible ge may fynde the lessouns pistlis & gospels that ben red in the chirche after the uss of Salisburi" &c. 14 leaves. (The whole of this preliminary matter is probably of the date of the table above, viz. 1448, and therefore a century later than the body of the manuscript: see the colophon.)

"Matheu (the beginning of this is lost, but has been supplied in a modern hand), Marke, Luk, Joon, romayns, corinthies, galathies, effesies, filipencis, colocensis, laodisensis (this is in a different but contemporary hand, and has been inserted), tessalonycensis, tymothe, tite, filemon, ebrewis, dedis (or Actus), James, Petir, Jon, Judas, Apocalips."

After which is added in a different hand the prologue to the

IN THE OLD LEATHER BINDING WITH ARMS OF HENRY VIII.

The calendar occupies six leaves, it is in a different hand to what follows and is illuminated with initials and medallions in gold and colours. The Psalms, Canticles etc. in Part I. are written in a fine bold hand, and are richly decorated with initials and various ornaments in gold and colours; some of the larger initials contain miniatures. At the foot of every page throughout this part of the volume there is a representation in gold and colours of a grotesque nondescript or chimæra, generally winged, sometimes with a human head, sometimes with that of a bird or other animal. The second part, which is of later date, is also illuminated in gold and colours, but without miniatures or figures. The third part, also of later date, has a rich flowered border to the first page, with a large miniature of our Saviour. Various other miniatures and illuminated initials occur in the remainder of the volume.

The binding is on wood boards, and the sides have the arms of Henry VIII. stamped in gold. It is probable that the later parts of the volume were written for him.

Written in a fine large hand, with initials and ornaments in gold and colours throughout. Each of the Psalms and other pieces has an initial with marginal ornament in gold and colours and a miniature on gold ground. The calendar is similarly decorated, and has medallions illustrative of the seasons. The initial to the first Psalm occupies more than half the page, and is elaborately embellished with miniatures on a gold ground and with miniatures in the margin and at foot of the page. Several other large initials with miniatures and borders occur in other parts of the volume.

Prefixed are seven leaves containing fifty-two miniatures in colours, of subjects taken from scripture history. Many of these are on a gold ground. The whole of the illuminations are in the Anglo-Norman style of art.

On the recto of fol. 2 is written, in the autograph of Thomas, Lord Fairfax, "The Ladie Middleton's gift to me. Fairfax." A book-plate of the Fairfax arms is inside the cover.

At the beginning of the volume are two leaves containing an index in a modern hand. The Calendar occupies six leaves. Every page throughout from the beginning of the calendar to the end of the prayers, is superbly illuminated in a high style of art, with initials, marginal ornaments and other embellishments in gold and colours. The first page of the Psalms has a large ornamented initial, with an elaborate border all round the page containing numerous miniatures representing scripture incidents, animals, and devices. At the lower part of this page are two compartments containing respectively a knight and a lady, both in a kneeling posture. The arms of the knight, az. a fess between six crosslets or, are emblazoned on his shield and surcoat. Seven other pages, numbered 46, 75, 102, 129, 162, 194, 228, are almost as richly ornamented as the one above-described, having large initials with miniatures, and borders round three sides of the page containing medallions with miniatures and flowers.

The arms above-mentioned are those of St. Omer of Norfolk; see Blomefield's History of that county, vol. 5, pp. 76, 77, where it is stated that till lately one of the north windows of the church of Mulbarton had in it the pictures of Sir Thomas de St. Omer and Dame Perinelle his wife, with his arms, as above, and those of Malmains.

PRINTED IN 1714

XIV. CENTURY.
VELLUM. Folio, 94 x 64 inches. Pp. 320.

IN CALF BINDING.

With rubrics and illuminated initials. At the commencement are ten miniature paintings in the early English style; each occupying a page, and representing figures of apostles and saints, for the most part two on the page; St. Edmund the King, St. Thomas of Canterbury and St. Cecilia are each painted on a separate page. The vellum is painted on one side only, and the blank sides pasted together. Each painting is accompanied by a page of manuscript, generally containing a short account of the persons represented and prayers to or concerning them. These are followed by sixteen other miniature paintings in the same style. Some of them contain four subjects, others two, others only one on the page. Each page is surrounded by a border, within which the figures are shown under arches, and where there are more subjects than one they are separated by columns. The incidents represented are the creation of woman, the fruit forbidden, the fall and the expulsion, with the chief events recorded in the New Testament.
Some of the latter occurring in the smaller paintings are repeated in the larger ones. At the beginning of the Psalms is a large initial with six miniatures, and several other initials with miniatures occur in the course of the book. Towards the end the arms of the following persons are emblazoned in some of the initials: Earl of Gloucester, Lord Fitzalan of Bedal, Earl Winton, St. George, Lord Mortimer of Wigmore, Lord Mowbray of Axholme, Earl of Warwick, Lord Percy of Northumberland, Earl of Oxford, Baron Stafford, Bohun. On the first leaf is written, "Istud Psalterium pertinet domui de Carhowe." That is the Benedictine Nunnery formerly in the suburbs of Norwich, variously denominated: "Carrow," "Carow," "Kairo," or "Carhou."

The first thirteen leaves contain the calendar, which is gorgeously illuminated in colours and gold. Fol. 14 is blank.

Then follow eight miniature paintings in colours on a gold ground within a coloured border, and representing scenes from gospel history from the annunciation to the purgation of the temple. Each miniature occupies a page, and the other side of the leaf is blank.

On the verso of the next leaf is the initial B in arabesque ornament, and two miniature paintings within it, all on a gold ground; underneath is the beginning of the first Psalm in large semi-uncial letters of gold on a blue ground. A border of green and blue encloses the whole and occupies nearly all the page. The following page has the continuation of the text in similar gold letters on a blue ground and within a border like the last. As the text proceeds the initial of every verse is illuminated in gold on a coloured ground. Each Psalm, as well as most of the divisions of Psalm 118, has a large initial also illuminated and a miniature in the margin on a gold ground within a coloured border, frequently with the representation of an edifice above it. The margins also have the usual rubricated ornaments, often with grotesque figures in outline or in colours at the sides and foot of the page.

Psalms 26, 38, 51, 52, 68, 80, 97, 101, 109, have large initials with miniatures, and the beginning of the text in capital letters of gold. Each of these Psalms is preceded by one, two, or three miniature paintings, amounting to twenty in all, similar to the eight that follow the Calendar.

The Litany is ornamented in a style similar to the Calendar. The following petition occurs near the end: "Ut me indignam famulam tuam N. & famulum tuum Heinricum & omnes michi consanguinitate uel familiaritate seu oracione coniunctos ab insidiis inimicorum uisibilium & inuisibilium defendere & ab infirmitate atque ab omni perturbacione defendere et ad uitam eternam perducere digneris, te Rogamus."

Psalm 53 is omitted, and Psalm 66 is misplaced between 63 and 64.

The legend connected with this volume is that it once belonged to Saint Cunegonde, the chaste Empress, and that the Heinricus of the prayer was the Emperor Henry II. surnamed the Holy. As Cunegonde died in 1040, she could never have seen or possessed this MS., but the style of the paintings and embellishments renders it by no means improbable that they were copied from a work of much earlier date, it may be from one which had belonged to her.

It is said, and may easily be believed, that this splendid volume was formerly bound in plates of gold; that it was sent by some one who had it from a convent at Bamberg to the Mint at Munich to have the gold melted, and that having been stripped of its precious covering it remained unclaimed by the owner, and was sold after a length of time by order of the Master of the Mint.

Written in double columns with rubrics and coloured initials. The Anglo-Norman version begins: "Beneit seit li ber ki nu ala el conseil des feuns e en la ueie des peccheurs nestut, e en la chaere de pestilence ne sist."

At the xvj kal. of August in the Calendar is the following entry, "Obitus Tristrem' lee anno domini millesimo cccc<sup>mo</sup> lxxix et ille dedit istud psalterium abbati & conventui de ecclesia Whalley." At the xij kal. of October, is this entry, "Obitus Ric' de la lee in anno pestilenciali anno domini m ccc lxi." Other entries concerning members of the same family are now illegible.

There is a leaf or more wanting at the end of the canticles.

It appears that this MS. originally belonged to the family of Lee, la Lee, de la Lee, or del Legh, and was given by one of them to the Abbey of Whalley in the county of Lancaster. In Whitaker's History of the Parish of Whalley, it is stated that there was a friendly intercourse between the de la Leghs and the Abbey of Whalley, of which there are many traces upon the records of the latter. A Gilbert del Legh was one of the earlier monks.

M. Francisque Michel, "Rapports," 1838, 4°, pa. 109, in describing a copy of this version in the British Museum, says:—"La traduction française de ce psautier, qui est dans le même langage que les lois de Guillaume le Conquérant, ne serait-elle point la même que celle qui passe pour avoir été ordonnée par ce prince?"

Written in double columns with rubrics and illuminated initials. Several pages have borders in colours and gold, with miniatures in the initials. The beginning of the Canon of the Mass is wanting.

The rubrics to the Ordinary and Canon of the Mass in this MS. correspond more nearly with those of the Sarum Missal than with the others given by the Rev. W. Maskell in his work on "The Ancient Liturgy of the Church of England"; but they do not exactly agree.

At the foot of the page containing the prayer for departed souls is written: "Orate pro animabus Johannis Nuborgh, Johannis Fitzjames, Alicie uxoris sue et magistri Ricardi Fitzjames olim Londoniensis episcopi"; and on the last page:

"Missale Reverendi patris Ricardi Fitzjames super Londoniensis episcopi anno 1506 usque ad annum 1521 quo obiit et successit ei Cuthbertus Tonstall in episcopatu." The latter memorandum is apparently in the handwriting of Cuthbert Tonstall.

Richard Fitzjames, D.D. was a younger son of John Fitzjames Esq. of Redlynch near Bruton in Somersetshire, by his wife Alice, daughter of John Newburgh of East Lullworth in Dorsetshire. He was Warden of Merton College Oxon, Chaplain to Edward IV., Almoner to Henry VIII. in 1495, Bishop of Rochester in the following year, translated to Chichester in 1503-4 and to London in 1506, where he died 15 Jan. 1521-2 and was buried in St. Paul's, in a tomb which he had caused to be built in his lifetime. The whole finished in colours and gold, and exhibiting a specimen of early English art not easily equalled. A leaf wanting between pp. 152 and 153. Several prayers are added in a different hand, and there is a modern index with notes upon paper.

On page 43, is the autograph of Elizabeth of York, Queen of Henry VII. "Elyzabeth y<sup>e</sup> queene." The volume afterwards belonged to her unfortunate great-grand-daughter, Mary, Queen of Scots, according to the following certificates attached to one of the fly leaves:—"This book was given me by my mother who told me that it belonged to Mary Queen of Scots, and was given by her, the night before she was beheaded, to one of her attendants who was of my mother's family.—Dorothy Osborne."

"Written at Cheriton and at my request by Mrs. Osborne, in 1787. Edmund Ferrers, Rector of Cheriton, Hants."

"The lady to whom it was given was Dorothy, daughter of Sir Christopher Willoughby, by Elizabeth his wife, sister and heir of Gilbert Lord Talbois of Kyme in Lincolnshire, in 1536. See Jacobs' Peerage, vol. 2d, p. 492. The present Lord Middleton is descended from a younger branch of this family.—E. Ferrers."

Of crist ihesu halwid was by grace.

On the verso of the second leaf are represented a knight and a lady in the attitude of prayer before the Virgin and child.

MSS. AT ASHBURNHAM PLACE.

The armorial bearings have been obliterated from the surcoat of the knight and from the compartments below the figures, but enough remains to show that the persons represented are John Talbot, first Earl of Shrewsbury and his second Countess Margaret, daughter of Richard Beauchamp Earl of Warwick, for whom, doubtless, the volume was written. On the same page are two garters with their mottos and a daisy (marguerite) within each; the same flower occurs in the borders; then there is a cipher of the name Margaret surmounted by a coronet and surrounded with a golden chain and a wreath of daisies. The portraits are well preserved; that of the Earl is like others that are known of him.

Afterwards belonged to "P. Richardetus Abbas, Bibliothecæ Epternacensi (Etternach) 1610."

Les heures de nostre dame entre noel et la chandeleur. Le sautier saint ieroisme. Oroisons. Letanie soc.

The rubrics are nearly all in French, although the text, excepting a few prayers, is in Latin.

Prefixed to the calendar is a miniature frontispiece of much later date than the rest of the volume. The calendar has a miniature at head and foot and a marginal ornament to each page; the other pages throughout, with few exceptions, have borders in gold and colours, and small illuminated initials, frequently containing miniatures; while at the beginnings of the offices, and elsewhere, occur many large highly finished miniatures. Some of the borders have figures, chiefly grotesque, in a different style, but of the same date, drawn in outline and slightly tinted. Upon the whole, this is a very fine specimen of Early French Art.—Several escutcheons are emblazoned in various parts of the book, among others, Navarre dimidiating Burgundy in a lozenge; the first coat both in lozenge and escutcheon; semé of France with a bordure gules charged with bezants; semé of France on a bend three fleurs de lis (?) arg., this occurs frequently in the initials and once on a banner impaling the coat first described. The escutcheons are small and somewhat indistinct.

A leaf is wanting at the beginning of the xy psalms.

The calendar occupies 24 pages, each of which has a beautiful border composed of flowers, fruit, insects, birds, etc., in their natural colours and arranged with reference to the seasons. An appropriate miniature painting adorns the foot of each page, and there is an illuminated initial to the beginning of every month. On the second page of July is a painted vase bearing the name "Omaier." The whole MS. is beautifully written on fine vellum and embellished with miniature paintings in the highest style of Flemish art, the rich colouring bright, fresh, and perfectly preserved. The several services and their divisions, as well as the minor pieces in the volume, amounting in all to 34, having miniatures within a border occupying the whole page, the next following pages being adorned with borders of various patterns in gold and colours, and illuminated initials; besides these the text is abundantly illustrated with initials, miniatures, and marginal decorations of fruit and flowers.

On the painting representing the raising of Lazarus prefixed to the "Vigilie mortuorum" the date "anno dom. MCCCCLXI" occurs at the foot, and on the next page "f. Josef ayala."

The binding is on oak boards and has stout silver clasps.

The surpassing beauty of the illuminations to this MS. led the late Mr. Samuel Woodburn, an excellent judge, to attribute them to Jan van Eyck.

With rubrics in gold and blue, and illuminated initials throughout. Twenty-four pages are superbly decorated in the highest style of Italian art; each has a miniature painting in the centre, which is surrounded by a border of miniature and tracery on a gold, azure, emerald or crimson ground, producing an effect surpassingly brilliant. The other pages have ornaments to the front margins of floriated tracery and miniatures within a gold border, tail pieces of similar design fill the spaces not occupied by text at the end of the services or divisions. The designs of the ornamentation are sufficiently varied; several devices however are noticeable for their recurrence, such as the deaf adder, the refining crucible, the flaming beacon and the fruitful vine. The initials I.E., F.S., L.M., N.A., C.I.F., C.I.C.V., F.A. and others, occur in various parts of the illuminations. Each office has a frontispiece, which, as well as the following page, is elaborately adorned with a border of miniature painting of exquisite design; the centre part being occupied in the one case by an appropriate miniature painting, in the other by the highly ornamented initial with a miniature and the beginning of the text. Eleven pages are thus illuminated, the "Psalmi graduales" having no frontispiece.

As a specimen of Italian Art of the fifteenth century, the present volume is scarcely inferior to the MS. described at No. 1874 of the first part of this Catalogue, to which it bears so strong a resemblance that there can be little doubt but that both are the work of the same hand.

More than half of this is wanting.

Beautifully written in double columns, with rubrics and ornamented initials. An illuminated initial at the beginning.
A small leaf is inserted between fol. 70 and 71 to supply an omission on fol. 71 b.

On the first page is written in a hand of the fourteenth century:—"Istum librum quem dedit Rex francie (Charles V.)
pro libraria communi istius conuentus Trecentis (Troyes) ordinis predicatorum quicunque alienauerit sententiam excommunicationis ipso facto (incurrat) sicut apparet per literas papales quarum copia est in fine huius libri scripta." This copy of the papal brief is wanting with the lost leaf or leaves of the volume.

At the top of the first page is also written:—"Collegij Paris. Soc. Jezu," and, on the inner margin:—"Paraphé au desir de Parret du 5 Juillet 1763. Hesnil."

This MS. is one of those given by Charles V. King of France, in 1371, to the Convent of the Jacobins or Friars Preachers at Troyes, and which were sold as useless by an ignorant Prior in the 16th century.

See the "Catalogue général des manuscrits des Bibliothèques publiques des départements. Tom. II. Troyes," No. 267, page 132, where a MS. is described as containing a similar note to that quoted above, and a copy of the Bull of Gregory
XI. there alluded to; also No. 653, pp. 273, 274, where another MS. is described as retaining the note, but as having lost the copy of the Bull with the end of the volume, as in the present instance.

The number of plays or pageants is forty-nine; the subjects of the first eleven taken from the Old Testament, the others from the New Testament. Of the Cardmakers' play there are two copies, one rather more modern than the other. The plays of the "Vinters" and "Ironmongers" are omitted.

APPENDIX.

In the original binding on oak boards.

The names "Thomas Cutler" and "Richarde Nandicke" occur in several places on blank leaves at beginning and end.

On a fly-leaf at the beginning is written "H. Fairfax's book 1695," and on the verso of the same leaf "Donum Hon<sup>mi</sup> Hen. Fairfax Arm. Rad<sup>o</sup> Thoresby." The volume was afterwards in the Strawberry Hill Collection.

In Drake's "Eboracum," Appendix, pa. xxix, there are some regulations concerning the feast and pageantry of the play of Corpus Christi, translated from an entry in an old register belonging to the city of York. These are followed by the order of the pageants in the year 1415, and by two proclamations relative to them. The plays were to be exhibited every year on the vigil of the feast of Corpus Christi, and the procession was to be made on the day of the feast.

XV. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO, 11½ x 8½ INCHES. Ff. 220.

IN VELLUM BINDING.

Written in long lines with a few coloured initials.

The Testament is dated the last day of October 1412; but the other papers are earlier, beginning about the time of the election to the Pontificate of Cardinal Pedro de Luna, who took the name of Benedict XIII. The collection comprises eighty-eight distinct pieces besides the Testament, some of them of considerable length. They consist of letters and tracts by Johannes de Linharo, Henricus de Dacia, Conradus Gelrenhusen, Gerardus Groet; many by the University of Paris addressed to Charles VI. King of France, to the several Popes, to the College of Cardinals and others; several letters from John, King of Aragon; one from the University of Oxford, addressed to King Richard II. in 1395; one from the University of Cologne; a long letter from the University of Toulouse, addressed to the King of France; the same repeated with a copious gloss, "contra textum et reprehens conclusiones ipsius"; a letter from the Patriarch of Alexandria to the Archbishop of Canterbury; letters and bulls of Boniface IX. (Pietro Tommazelli), Innocent VII. (Cosimo de' Migliorati), and many of Benedict XIII. himself; other letters from Louis, Duke of Orleans, John, Duke of Berry, and Charles VI. King of France; from the Cardinals at Rome, the Florentine College, the Chancery at Paris etc. etc. Near the end are some verses in praise of the Duke of Orleans, beginning: "Mercurius summa celi delabor ab arce," which are followed by "Epistola scripta sub nomine Luciferi Principis tenebrarum."

The Compiler of this collection evidently belonged to the party of the Antipopes, the Roman Pontiffs being generally mentioned by their family names, or as "Intrusi."

Some few of these papers are printed in D'Achery's Spicilegium, 1723, tom. 1, but most of them, including the Testament, the letters from the Universities of Oxford and Toulouse, and that from the Patriarch of Alexandria, appear to be unpublished.

The volume was formerly in the library of Charles de Pradel, Bishop of Montpellier, 1676 to 1696. Several leaves at the beginning are injured by damp.

Prologue begins: "Ceulx qui se disposent a histories escrire

The commencement of the text is wanting; it begins:
"quant Adam la vit il congnt quelle anoit este faicte et Colophon: "Cy finist le xiiij liure des ancienntez des Juifs selon la sentence de Josephe."

Written in double columns on fine vellum, with rubrics and illuminated initials in colours on a gold ground and thirteen very fine large miniature illustrations.

The painting representing the building of the temple is the same, with very slight variations, as that engraved by M.

The binding is richly tooled in the Grollier style; within are the bookplates of Nicolas Joseph Foucault and John

XIIII—XXIIII.

XIV. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO. 13. x 9 INCHES. FF. 436.
BOUND IN MAROON MOROCCO.

Imperfect at beginning, commences in chap xj. of book xiiij.
“de corruption et de pourreture” ....

Written in double columns on fine vellum, with rubrics and rubricated initials throughout, and with numerous miniatures in colours and gold. At the beginning of book xvij (which is the first of la “tierce partie”) is a large miniature painting containing a representation of nine kings, and at the foot of the same page are the arms of John, Duke of Berry. This leaf is now placed first in the volume.

On the recto of the last leaf is the Duke’s autograph: “Ce Liure est au Duc de Berry.—Jehan.” And on the verso of the same leaf: “Cy fenist le second volume du liure du mirouer Historial. Et contient ce volume vnze liures comme dit est a lencommencement dicellui Lequel est a Jehan Filz de Roy de France, Duc de Berry & Dauuergne, Conte de Poitou, destampes de Bouloingne & dauuergne.—Flamel.”

This MS. is therefore of its original extent, bating the imperfection at the beginning. It was doubtless written for the Duke or for his father King John, as the margins of the columns are decorated with semi fleurs-de-lis, and the volume, in its general aspect, bears a very decided resemblance to “La Bible Historial,” N<sup>o</sup>. VII. of the present Appendix. The binding is modern, but the original gilt and coloured edges with the Berry Arms have been preserved.

Colophon: "Cest le tiers volume du mirouer hystorial qui fu acompli lendemain de la saint loys lan de grace mil. ccc. lj."

Written in double columns, with rubrics and rubricated initials. The first page has an illuminated initial and border, with a miniature painting in two compartments representing Saint Louis directing the author to compile the work, and Jeanne de Bourgogne, Queen of Philip de Valois, commanding Jean de Vignay to translate it. There are numerous other miniatures and illuminated initials much in the style of those in the preceding number, but of inferior execution.

Ending with the preparations for the reception of Queen Isabelle at Paris in 1389.

Written in double columns, with rubrics and illuminated initials. Vols. 1 and 2 have each a miniature at the beginning in two compartments, with a border in colours and gold round the page. Vol. 3 is slightly imperfect at the beginning. The volumes have had marble paper pasted on the sides, which makes them appear as half-bound; marks of a centre ornament, probably a coat of arms, are visible through the paper.

The volume consists of eleven gatherings marked xxj—xxxj Written in double columns, with a shaded pen-drawing at the top of the first column.

The arms of Louis Alexandre, Comte de Toulouse, Admiral of France, are stamped in gold on the sides.

Purchased at the sale of Louis Philippe's books.

Both the principal poems contained in this MS. are exceedingly rare ; the first, which has not been printed, the more so of the two. The second was edited by Crapelet in 1829 from a MS. in the Bibliothèque impériale, then the only one known, and which is described as faulty and incomplete.
See the preface to Crapelet's edition ; see also a "Note" by M. Peigné-Delacourt "sur le Châtelain de Coucy et la dame de Fayel," in tom. xiii. des "Mémoires de la Société des Antiquaires de Picardie." The minor poems are probably unique.

LES MALHEUREUSES AMOURS DE LERIANO ET DE LAUREOLE, ROMAN.

XVI. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO,  $9\frac{1}{2} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$  INCHES. FF. 94.

IN CALF BINDING.

Begins with the translator's dedication :—

Illustre dame franc sejour de noblesse
Aqui sur toutes Je dois honneur sans vice En bon vouloir daffection expresse
Te presente cy mon petit service
De vray Je scay que cest faict de novice
Lan dit pourtant quacepter peu de chose
Sans nul desdaing est des nobles loffice
Car (en bon lieu) toute vertu repose.

Certain letters written in red ink at the commencement of these lines form the name Jaquete de Lansac, doubtless that of the lady addressed ; other letters written in like manner in the midst of the first four lines give the name Francois Dacy, which may certainly be assumed as that of the translator.

Following this dedication is a preface by the same hand, in which it is stated that having, during the expedition of Francis I. into Lombardy (in 1515) for the conquest of his ultramontane states, received this work from his good friend the Ferrarese who had translated it into Italian from the Spanish, and seeing that it treated of pleasant matters even for young ladies, the present translator had undertaken to put the said Italian into French.

The romance begins: "De puis la guerre faite et finie de lan passe, devant tenir mon yver et me reposer en mon pouvre repaire...."

With illuminated initials. There is a frontispiece painted in miniature representing a lady with three female attendants seated, and the translator in the act of presenting his book. On the right is an escutcheon quarterly, 1. az. a cross arg., 2. vairy or and az., 3. arg. a lion gu., 4. gu. a lion arg.; and on the left another coat quarterly, 1 and 4 as 4 in the last, 2 and 3 as 2 in the last. Over the top are written on scrolls the mottos "Sola in patria" and "En bon lieu," the latter is repeated in the border. Under the dedication is a coat gu. two half moons addorsed, a star in base arg., crest a unicorn, motto "celer na per."

There are also two miniature paintings, each occupying a page, representing incidents of the romance.

This is undoubtedly the original presentation copy; a transcript from it was in the Gaignat Collection, No. 2246. All the miniatures are somewhat damaged.

The bookplate of the Marquis de Dangeau is within the cover.

Written in double columns, with rubrics and initials in colours and an ornamental initial to each part. The arms "del Marchese Manfredi Malespina," are inside the cover.

From the Boutourlin Collection: see Cat. No. 89, where it is stated that this MS. was inherited by Victoria Malespina, the last descendant of that celebrated family, and spouse of Count Giulio Barbolani da Montanto. It is also suggested that as Dante dedicated the second canto of the Purgatorio to Marcello Malaspina, this may be the copy that was presented to him on that occasion by the author; or at least one that Malaspina caused to be made from it.

CLXXXIX

SAHĪH MUSLIM

A COLLECTION OF HADITH OR TRADITIONS RECORDING
THE SAYINGS AND DOINGS OF MAHOMET.

XI. CENTURY.

VELLUM. FOLIO, 12½ x 9 INCHES. Pp. 224.

BOUND IN GREEN MOROCCO.

The first two pages contain the title of the work, written in gold on blue borders of a rich moorish pattern at top and bottom of the page. It may be translated thus:—

— “Muṣṣad al-Sahih, of Genuine Traditions authenticated, handed down by a truthful witness to another; compiled by Abul-Husain Muslim Ibn al-Hajjaj the great Traditionist . . . This is according to the text taught by Abul-Abbās Ahmad Ibn al-Ḥasan, who had it from Abu Ahmad Muhammad Ibn Isa Ibn Amrawaih al-Juludi, who had it from the author.”

This is one of the six books which with the Coran constitute the Canon of Islam. The six books are Sahih al-Bukhari, Sahih Muslim, Sunan al-Tirmidi, Sunan Abi Dawud, Sunan al-Nasai, Sunan Ibn Majah. The first two are esteemed superior to the others; Bukhari's work holding the first rank in the East, while the Maghrebi or Western Doctors generally give the preference to Muslim.

The work begins, after a short preface, with an Introduction on the necessity and the means of discriminating between genuine and spurious traditions; which is followed by a Section comprising such traditions as relate to faith, the creed of Islam in general, predestination etc. The texts and traditions are classified and arranged according to the usual system of Mohammedan law books, the principal headings being, The book of Ablutions, The book of Legal Prayer, The book of Funeral Rites, The book of Legal Alms, Fasting, Pilgrimage and its Rites, Marriage, Suckling, Divorce, Manumission, Sales, Wills, Oaths and Vows etc. To these are added some shorter books referring to miscellaneous subjects.

The text is written in the Maghrebi or African character; the larger sections or books are distinguished by titles written in gold in illuminated borders with marginal ornaments, some of them are in the Cufic character. The headings of the Babs or chapters are also written in gold, as well as the contraction equivalent to “he told us” placed before the names of the vouchers for the traditions.

On a fly leaf at the end of the work is a note which may be translated as follows:—

“Praise be to God. This is a blessed book: it was read in the Kaabah; it has run between Safa and Marwa (the sacred hills of Mecca); it was read in the holy mosque of Mecca; it was read at Arafat and Mina; it was read on the tomb of our lord and master Mohammed; it was read in the mosque of our lord Abraham (at Hebron); and in the holy mosque of Jerusalem. It was carried in the baggage of him who wishes for mercy and forgiveness from his lord, the pilgrim Ahmad son of the pilgrim Hassan al Kaisi, a native of Ribat al-Fath; may God the most high protect it. In the year 764 (A.D. 1363.) May God have mercy on its writer, reader, transcriber, and on all Mussulmans."

A note on the fly leaf at the beginning records the donation of this book to the college of Napoli in the Morea, for the benefit of the Professors and Students. It is dated in the reign of Sultan Ahmad son of Muhammad son of Ibrahim (Achmet III.), A. H. 113. (the unit is doubtful), about A.D. 1718; and is subscribed Ahmad Ilmi, Trustee of the pious foundations of the Holy Cities (Mecca and Medina).

The author or compiler of this work died in A.D. 875. Abul-Abbás, the voucher for the present text, probably lived to about the middle of the eleventh century, and considering that Mahometan custom would require the authentication of a book of traditions by the oral testimony of a recognized teacher, it is natural to infer that this MS. was written in his lifetime; although the character of the writing and the general appearance of the volume would seem to indicate a somewhat later date.

Arabic manuscripts on vellum are of the greatest rarity. The vellum on which this is written is very beautiful both in colour and texture.

This volume was amongst the plunder taken by the Greeks at the fall of Napoli di Romania in 1822, and was bought there by the present owner.

THE CORAN IN ARABIC.

XIX. CENTURY.

PAPER. OCTAVO, 7 x 4½ INCHES. Fp. 302.

IN ORIENTAL BINDING.

Written on glazed paper in a fair Turkish Neskhi, with all the vowels. An onwan or frontispiece occupying two pages at the beginning in gold and colours, gold-ruled margins to the pages, and cross stripes of the same to divide the chapters; the verses, which are not numbered, are distinguished by gold spots, and flowers on the margin show the beginnings of the quires.

The name of the scribe is given at the end thus: "Mustafa Ben Hosein Jabkari, one of the disciples of Soleiman Efendi, commonly called Hikmeti"; the transcription was finished A.H. 1291: A.D. 1816.

JOSEPH AND ZULEIKA, THE PERSIAN POEM BY MAULÂNÂ

NÛR UD-DIN ABD UR-RAHMÂN JAMÎ.

XVI. CENTURY.

PAPER. FOLIO, 10 x 6½ INCHES. Fp. 147.

IN ORIENTAL STAMPED LEATHER COVER.

Written on gold-sprinkled paper in a fine Talik character, with margins ruled in gold and colours, and the titles of the cantos in blue ink heightened with gold. A richly illuminated onwan or frontispiece is at the beginning, but one half of it is a modern imitation of the original. There are three whole-page miniature paintings: the first represents Mohammed in his ascension through the spheres on the human-headed horse Bōrak, the Prophet's face being veiled as usual; the second shows Joseph in the slave market of Egypt, and Zuleika looking down from a terrace on the house-top; the third represents the Egyptian ladies at an entertainment in the house of Zuleika, admiring the beauty of Joseph. The last leaf of the MS. is a modern restoration.

EXCII.

KULLIYĀT SA'DI

A COMPLETE COLLECTION OF THE COMPOSITIONS IN PROSE AND VERSE OF SHEIKH MUSLIM UD-DIN SA'DI OF SHIRAZ.

XV. CENTURY.

PAPER. QUARTO, 8½ x 5½ INCHES. FF. 469.

IN ORIENTAL BINDING.

Written in a remarkably fine Talik character on paper of a greyish or lilac tint, highly glazed and remarkably heavy, owing apparently to some metallic substance introduced into its composition; one side of it is ornamented with gold sprinkling, and with designs in gold lines, representing landscapes, foliage, fruit etc. drawn in the Chinese style.

There is a tasteful and elaborate onwan or frontispiece; gold-ruled margins with flowered ornaments in the corners to every page, and a great number of exquisitely illuminated titles in gold and colours. Half the frontispiece is unfortunately lost, and the remaining page is much rubbed.

The Scribe gives his name as Nāṣir al-Kātib (the Secretary), and the date of his work A.H. 840 (A.D. 1436).

There is one MS. on similar paper in the British Museum, it was executed in 1469, and is marked Add. 1656.

XV. CENTURY.

VELLUM. A ROLL, ALTOGETHER ABOUT 42½ FEET LONG AND 7½ INCHES WIDE.

ON WOOD ROLLER WITH BRASS MOUNTED ENDS.

At the head of the roll is a miniature painting, in colours and gold, of an Abbess lying in state; above are the Virgin and Child, and below a large illuminated initial. The document begins: "Universis sancte matris ecclesie filiis ad quos presentes littere pervenire contigerint, Margareta dei permissione Abbatissa et conventus monasterij forestensis ordinis sancti benedicti Camaracensis dyoceseos, Salutem." etc. Desiring the prayers of all to whom this roll shall be presented by the bearer Johannes Leonis, for the souls of the deceased Abbess Elizabeth and of seven sisters of the convent also deceased. "Datum anno domini M<sup>o</sup>. cccc. lvij, die xvj mensis Augusti."

To the foot of the original letter are appended a number of sheets of parchment forming a continuation 38 feet long, and containing nearly 400 certificates of superiors and other officers of Abbeys, Monasteries, Churches and religious houses where the roll was presented; the first is dated on the 6th of September 1458, and the last on the 8th of July 1459. The upper sheets of parchment are written on both sides.

The Abbey of Forest was destined from its foundation exclusively for ladies of noble birth. The Abbess whose death is here commemorated, was Elizabeth Sconincx, the seventeenth in order; she was succeeded by Margaret de Scoers, who issued the present letter.

It does not appear that this mode of announcing the death of an important personage, and of recording such announcement, was very frequently employed, for documents similar to the one here described are of the extremest rarity.

VENICE

A COLLECTION OF MINIATURE PAINTINGS, EIGHTEEN IN NUMBER, ABSTRACTED FROM DUCALI.

XVI. CENTURY.

VELLUM. SMALL QUARTO SIZE.

UNBOUND.

They contain portraits of Antonio Barbaro, Vincenzo Capello, Pietro de Chataiapiro, Andrea Contareno and Pandolfo Guoro, whose names appear; others are denoted by the arms, as members of the families of Bragadino, De Rossi, Corraro, Malepieri, Foscari, Pandolfini, Varotari, and Contadini.

Four of these miniatures have been severally attributed to Paolo Veronese, Paris Bordone, Girolamo dai libri, and Pordenone.

The paintings are not merely portraits of the persons on whom a charge has been conferred, but generally include other whole length figures, as the Virgin, St. Mark, Venice personified, an ecclesiastic, etc.; in some there are two or more figures besides the portrait, with animals, buildings, landscape, and other accessories, and all have rich borders in gold and colours of various design.

They are beautiful specimens of Italian art of the period; the colouring bright and rich.
